The workshop is designed as an introduction to the world of percussion and batucada. Both are valuable resources in music education and also promoting inclusion and personal development among students. The programme brings music to life in an interactive and engaging way.

Batucada brings the energy and character of Brazilian music and allows for collective work with immediate results. Students experience music in a direct and practical way, regardless of their previous level of musical knowledge.

Group work and guided cooperation help to improve students' social skills and strengthen their sense of belonging to a group with a common goal: to enjoy and learn through music.

The programme is adapted to different educational levels and participants' levels of knowledge.
